Editorial Note

This Directory is the second publication of its kind to appear in our country. The first edition, also produced by “Sefer” - the Moscow Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization, was published in 1996. The previous edition contained information on 53 institutions of higher learning in the field of Jewish studies, but did not provide data on individual scholars.

In the new edition, the editors have recorded universities which specialize in Jewish studies, those offering individual courses in Jewish studies, and People’s Universities (which offer adult education courses). This expanded edition of the Directory contains information on 93 university level academic programs in Jewish studies, 12 People’s Universities, and 30 Research Centers. The Directory also includes an annotated list of scholars who are active in the field. In addition, the text is accompanied by useful geographical and subject indexes. The editors hope that this Directory will be of use to all those who are interested in Jewish studies, and will help them find their way through numerous universities and research institutions, as well as to get an idea of what many individual scholars, professors and students are doing in the field all over the former Soviet Union.

“Sefer”, the Moscow Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization gratefully acknowledges the constant help, support and assistance received from the International Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization (Hebrew University of Jerusalem) and its Academic Chairman Professor Yom Tov Assis, the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, and personally Dr. Jonathan Porath, Director of Academic programs in the FSU, for their most valuable advice and guidance in the preparation of the Academic Directory of Jewish Studies in the CIS and Baltic States.

The Editorial Board is also very grateful to all those colleagues and institutions who added to the data base and helped to bring the project to life: Igor Doukhan, Ruvim Ferber, Leonid Finberg, Artem Fedortchouk, Inna Gerasimova, Mikhail Girshman, Matelle Godfrey, Vladislav Grynevich, John Klier, Yakov Kopansky, Iveta Leitane, Larissa Lempertene, Elena Lunina, Eugeny Maryanchik, Leonid Matsikh, Alexander Militarev, Yohanan Petrovsky, Vassily Shchedrin, Shifra Shor, Emmanuil Yoffe, Ilmars Zvirgdzs.

Foreword

The second edition of the Directory of Jewish Studies in the CIS and the Baltic states is an eloquent illustration of the remarkable progress made in the field of Jewish scholarship in an area where only a few years ago this kind of academic activity was either totally absent or seriously discouraged, to put it mildly. Numerous scholars, young and old, have discovered fields of research that have hitherto remained almost virgin and Jewish studies are flourishing rapidly and surely. Since the publication of the first edition more than thirty universities have added Jewish studies to their curriculum and many research centers have been established. The establishment in Moscow of the Center for Jewish Studies and Jewish Civilization as a joint project of the Institute for Asian and African Studies, Moscow State University, the Institute of Jewish Studies, the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and the Jewish University in Moscow is a result of the flourishing Jewish culture in the CIS and the Baltic states. The creation of the Chais Center for Jewish Studies in Russian at the Institute of Jewish Studies, the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is further evidence of the importance that Israeli academic institutions are attaching to Jewish studies in the former Soviet Union.

The International Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization at the Hebrew University is proud of being involved in this exciting development. The close relationship that exists between the Center and Sefer, the publisher of the Directory, is probably the best example of the cooperation and the collaboration between scholars in Israel and Russia in the field of Jewish learning. I should like to congratulate the editors of the Directory Dr. Rashid Kaplanov, Dr. Victoria Mochalova and Ms. Lyudmila Chulkova for the excellent Directory they have produced.

The Directory will certainly be of great use to scholars in Jewish studies all over the world. It will enhance cooperation between scholars and institutions in Jewish studies throughout the world and will strengthen further already existing ties between academicians in the field of Jewish learning.

Prof. Yom Tov Assis
Academic Chairman, The International Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization;
Head of the Institute of Jewish Studies,
The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

«Sefer»: Past, Present and Future

The Moscow Center for University Teaching of Jewish Civilization, «Sefer» was founded in August 1994 as an independent body affiliated with the International Center for University Studies of Jewish Civilization ((ICUTJC) of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in cooperation with the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (AJJDC). It operates under the direction of Dr. Rashid Kaplanov (Chairman of the Academic Board), Dr. Victoria Motchalova (Director), and Mrs. Lyudmila Chulkova (Vice-director).

Jewish studies have been enjoying in recent years unprecedented opportunities for development and growth in the Former Soviet Union (FSU). Numerous universities, both private and state-funded, throughout the FSU (in Belarus, Estonia, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kirgizia, Latvia, Lithuania, Moldova, Russia, Ukraine) are presently offering courses on a wide range of Jewish subjects. The major centers of research and education are above all the Jewish universities founded in Moscow (Jewish University in Moscow), St. Petersburg (Petersburg Jewish University) and Kiev (International Solomon University), all of which function through the support of donations from different Jewish organizations.

Two new institutions were established in 1998: the Hebrew University's Center for Jewish Studies and Jewish Civilization at the Institute for Asian and African Studies, Moscow State University (MSU), in cooperation with the MSU and Jewish University in Moscow, and the International Solomon University's new branch in Kharkov. There are also many separate Judaica courses, chairs, and seminars operating at different state universities. Judaic Studies programs today exist in many places, including not only the capitals of the states, like Moscow, St. Petersburg, Kiev, Kishinev, Minsk, Riga, Vilnius, Tbilisi, but also Donetsk, Dnepropetrovsk, Zaporozhie (Ukraine), Vitebsk (Belarus), Tomsk, Saratov, Yekaterinburg, Rostov-on-Don (Russia), and other cities. However, many of these programs are tenuous and the necessity to coordinate efforts has become clear for many Judaica teachers and independent scholars.

The AJJDC provides ongoing help and support for the development of this field.

The «Sefer» Center's members comprise both scholars and independent researchers, as well as university professors and students whose professional activity and scholarly interests are related to various aspects of Jewish civilization.

The objectives of the «Sefer» Center include fostering research and university Jewish studies, supporting students of Academic Judaica and raising their standards. These objectives determine the various directions of the Center's activity:

- organizing annual international conferences, as well as regional seminars devoted to specific subjects; creating workshops;
- teachers' training and refresher courses; retraining scholars from other fields in the area of Jewish Studies («Sefer» selects a number of academics annually to spend a month of intensive study and tutoring on Jewish topics in Moscow. The idea is to help a professor of Soviet history, for example, gain the knowledge to become a qualified Jewish history instructor in his or her home city, or to prepare an interested person to teach college-level Hebrew. This program has two aims: to raise the professional level of the over 70 institutions of Jewish studies across the FSU, and to foster the establishment of new ones),
- supporting studies of Academic Judaica;
- student programs (annual conferences, visits to Israel);
- lecture programs; arranging lectures by visiting scholars

(in response to incoming requests, «Sefer» continually sends lecturers to regions of CIS. They conduct courses of lectures for different audiences);

- methodological aid in creating course curricula (in cooperation with JUM and the Jewish Heritage Society, «Sefer» has published a series of Russian language syllabi for university courses in: Ancient Jewish History, Jews Under Islam, History of Anti-Semitism, History of Jews in Eastern Europe 10-18th Centuries);

- publications, distribution of information on Jewish studies;

- help in assembling academic Jewish libraries;

- cooperation with the Russian Academy of Sciences (the «Sefer» Center has attracted the attention of prominent academics in the FSU, and has been granted official status under the aegis of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Two international conferences were organized in Moscow in close cooperation with RAS (the Institute for Slavic Studies) - «The Creation of the World and the Beginning of Human History in Apocryphic and Folklore Traditions (based on Slavonic and Jewish texts)», December 1995, and «From Genesis to Exodus. The Reflection of Bible Motives in Slavonic and Jewish Folk Culture», October, 1997).

«Sefer» also gives academic and other support to organizations which operate under its overall «umbrella», including the Association of Students of Judaic Studies (Katya Rempel, Chairperson) and the Association of Public Universities of Jewish Culture in the Former Soviet Union (Dr. Semyon Avgustevich, President).

In only a few short years, the academics of the FSU engaged in Judaica Studies have made tremendous progress. With local initiatives and international support we hope to continue these very positive developments.

The «Sefer» International Advisory Council (IAC)

Catalyzed by the growing maturity of «Sefer» and the need to find additional resources in light of both rising costs and increased programs, the IAC, an international support group and lobby, was established in 1997. Members of the IAC are academics, supporters and friends from North America, Europe and Israel.

The purposes of the IAC are as follows:

- to foster the growth of «Sefer» and Academic Judaica in the Former Soviet Union.

- to gather and encourage international support for the above.

- to work with all other bodies who share similar goals.

To assist «Sefer» in its various projects and activities, subject to the decisions of the «Sefer» Academic Council and the local FSU board.
